good as the others in the series Von Morgan I didn't like that one as much as others in the series, maybe because I know tons of stuff about eating disorders and got annoyed sometimes because I remembered facts differently. Plus I didn't like the ending, it was too blissful for me. Nevertheless: good research, well written. The whole storyline was very traceable and logical. I'd definitely recommend it.

Kurzbeschreibung Emma is known on the campus of the prestigious Treadwell Academy for having it all; her father is the owner of Hunter Lodge, a massive fashion corporation, and Emma has gained international fame as the cover model of its popular, sexy catalog. She's gorgeous and she knows it, has a cute boyfriend at the nearby St. Johns Preparatory Academy for boys, and rules the school with her best friend, Paige. But everything changes the summer before junior year when Emma gains ten pounds and her father's creative team decides she's too heavy to put on the catalog cover. Mortified over being fired, she develops an obsession with losing weight that quickly escalates into an eating disorder. Emma vows to gain revenge for her dismissal from Hunter Lodge by taking over the runway modeling world by storm, and when Emma puts her mind to something, she looks out. Surprising even herself, Emma accomplishes everything she sets out to do; she finds a powerful agent, lands desirable modeling jobs, and starts building a name for herself. However, all of Emma's success comes at the price of her physical and emotional health, and she knows she's in serious trouble when she realizes that it's impossible to be perfect when everyone's definition of the word is different. For ages 13+ This edition also includes a free bonus chapter from the publisher from the paranormal YA book, Light as a Feather, Stiff as a Board, by Zoe Aarsen.
